

Customer Relationship Management

Customer Relationship Management manages complete sales cycle – from marketing to post-sales service and support. It helps you get the most from your sales force as it manages and automates marketing activities, while tracking leads and prospects. It keeps you informed by compiling accurate sales forecasts, identifying demand trends, analyzing sales history, highlighting product profitability, and measuring the effectiveness of sales promotions and marketing campaigns. Sales Management not only streamlines the creation of sales proposals and sales orders, but it also develops and executes customer contracts. Our solution enables your sales force to develop RFQs quickly and accurately and allows you to configure products that meet your customers' exact needs. It supports real-time order promising and allows customers to configure products, place orders, and check their status using web browser.
